About the Fund

It also aims to invest in such companies that are likely to benefit from government incentives & the entire manufacturing opportunity available in India.

It follows a bottom-up stock selection process by identifying companies that benefit through 3 key segments of the manufacturing theme i.e., Investments, Consumption and Net exports.

Fund Manager Views

- ▶ India remains one of the fastest growing economies globally. Manufacturing remains the heart of the Indian economic growth.
- ▶ Supply chain diversification has increasingly become a priority—a trend that had gained momentum in the post-COVID era. For India, this presents an unprecedented opportunity to position itself as a reliable alternative in global value chains.
- ▶ We believe government spending will continue in power supply, defence, data centres as well electronics supply chain. Also, a shift of supply chain across autos, electronic manufacturing from different parts of world may shift to India over coming years benefiting the manufacturing segment.
- ▶ Fund will continue to focus on B2B, which we believe will be the theme for next few years Electricals, Capital goods, auto, power T&D and renewables are the focus of the fund.
