Fund Manager Views

- Gold remains a key portfolio hedge and a safe-haven asset amid macro uncertainty, but volatility is likely as markets watch central bank moves and geopolitical headlines.
- Gold prices remain elevated around ~$4,600-4,800/oz range in April, after peaking in early 2026
- Central bank buying remains structurally strong, providing a firm long-term support base
- Uncertain U.S. fiscal outlook, large deficits, and Fed credibility concerns support investor interest
- Near-term upside may be capped by fewer expected Fed cuts, profit booking, and soft jewellery demand
- Likely to remain range-bound in the short term, driven by real rates and USD movement
