Fund Manager Views

- Overall, India's growth story remains one of resilience compared to its regional peers. Having said global energy sector volatility, due to evolving geopolitical tensions could become an overhang, unless it is quickly resolved. Investors should use bouts of volatility as opportunities to increase exposure to the markets.
- The fund has an overweight in healthcare, chemicals, banks, NBFC and capital goods and an underweight Consumption (specially in FMCG and Consumer Durables), IT, Metals, O&G, Utilities, Infra
- The Fund increased focus is on metals and retail driven bank & NBFC and exited positions in retail consumption, Capital Goods (defense and power) and within Auto (cut global exposure and 2W)
- The sustained capex push in the Union Budget improves earnings visibility across industrial, capital goods, construction and logistics value chains over a multi-year horizon. Moreover, the conclusion of a successful trade deal can likely lead to a re-rating in equities. India has now secured trade agreements with its two largest export markets which is the US and Europe. Markets will remain focused on earnings and impact of specific businesses from Middle East tensions as well as newsflow of progress on A.I. (on sectors such as IT).
